— too bold, too big, too far:

Unrealized artworks become visible. Artists from all over connect.

While mobility is restricted, borders and distances are clearly perceptible and existential uncertainties are omnipresent, more artistic works than ever remain in the state of planning. Whether it fail due to lack of time, space or money or accompany your artistic work for years as bold dream — we are looking for your projects, which have not (yet) made it beyond their state as an idea, concept, draft or prototype.

Why has the work remained unrealized?

What has been created instead?

How and where do you currently live and work?

Send your 'possible work' and it's story on a journey and apply by mail:
